		30	31	1 Give yourself the gift of a fresh start. Do one thing that feels kind to you — take a cozy nap, watch the sunrise, or write down what you're grateful for from 2025.	2 Take 5 slow breaths when you wake up or feel grumpy.	3 Pick one hour today with no screens — play, draw, or daydream instead.
4 Celebrate something you did well last week.	5 Stretch, dance, or walk — thank your body for moving!	6 Clean up one small area to make it feel peaceful.	7 Say no when something feels too much — kindly and clearly.	8 Look at yourself and name one thing you're proud of.	9 Sit quietly for two minutes and notice what you hear or feel.	10 Eat a snack slowly, thinking about who helped grow or make it.
11 Catch a mean thought about yourself — and change it to something kind.	12 Go outside and notice 3 beautiful things.	13 Draw a small seed. Inside the seed, write something you want more of (courage, calm, silliness, patience).	14 Listen to a song that makes you smile and move.	15 Go to bed a little earlier and thank your body for resting.	16 Change one "I have to..." into "I get to..."	17 Write down one thing you did today that made you proud.
18 When you feel upset, stop and take 3 slow breaths.	19 Write or draw one kind thing you did today — big or small.	20 Watch something funny or tell a silly joke.	21 Take a break without guilt — nap, read, doodle, or stretch.	22 Look for three "tiny treasures" in your day — something pretty, something funny, and something that makes you feel safe.	23 Leave a kind note for yourself where you'll see it.	24 Feel the water, breathe, and imagine worries rinsing away.
25 Do one kind thing for someone else — a smile, note, or hug.	26 Try something new — it's okay to make mistakes!	27 Step outside and soak up the sunlight.	28 Ask, "What do I need today?" — then do one small thing for yourself.	29 Tell a friend or family member what you like about them.	30 Name 3 good things that happened today.	31 Think about how being kind to yourself helped you be kind to others.

SCIENCE SPARK: EXPRESSING GRATITUDE AND LOVE BOOSTS OXYTOCIN (THE “BONDING HORMONE”), WHICH DEEPENS RELATIONSHIPS AND EVEN LOWERS BLOOD PRESSURE.

SUN	MON	TUE	WED	THU	FRI	SAT
1 Write three things you love about yourself.	2 Give a genuine compliment to three people today.	3 Text or message someone who helped you just to say thanks.	4 Make eye contact and share a genuine smile with at least five people today—at home, at school, or out in the world.	5 Hide notes of appreciation in lunchboxes, desks, or lockers.	6 Pick up litter or plant something green.	7 Take a photo of something beautiful or quirky around you — a cloud shaped like a heart, a stubborn little flower by the sidewalk — and send it to a friend with a simple “This made me think of you.”
8 Do something kind and invite others to “pass it on.”	9 Tell a classmate, coworker, or friend something you admire about them.	10 Write a love letter to yourself or someone special (it can even be your future self!).	11 Give your pet extra cuddles—or volunteer at a shelter.	12 Send a message or card to someone who taught you something valuable.	13 Make handmade valentines for neighbors, caregivers, or community helpers.	14 Cut out paper hearts, write kind words on them, and scatter them in shared spaces.
RANDOM ACTS OF KINDNESS WEEK FEBRUARY 15-21, 2026
15 Scroll until you see someone’s creative effort — a drawing, a recipe, a photo — and leave a genuine, specific compliment.	16 Ask someone, “What’s something good in your world today?” Then listen without rushing in to fix or compare.	17 Random Acts of Kindness Day! Do at least three acts of kindness—one for a friend, one for family, one for a stranger.	18 We always trade the big news; today share a tiny victory. You’ll invite others to celebrate their small joys too.	19 Drop a surprise note in a library book.	20 Let someone merge in traffic, go ahead in line, or take their time when they’re flustered.	21 Make a playlist of songs that make you feel loved and send it to a friend.
22 Before bed, name one loving thing that happened today.	23 Shout out someone else’s accomplishment on social media.	24 Leave a kind chalk message on a sidewalk or driveway.	25 Bring a treat to share with coworkers, classmates, or neighbors.	26 Start a message thread where everyone adds something kind about someone else.	27 Write a loving reminder on your mirror (“You’re doing great,” “You are loved”).	28 Look back on your month of love—what act meant the most?

			Grow something green—then give a plant or cutting to a friend or neighbor.	Take a walk and notice the beauty around you. Whisper “thank you” to the trees, sky, and air.	Skip single-use plastic today—reuse, refill, or go without.	Choose a small place—your block, playground, or favorite trail—and keep it clean all month.
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
Carry a refillable water bottle and notice how good it feels to help the planet.	Lean against a tree — breathe in its calm strength.	Pick up trash safely with gloves or tongs. Every piece helps.	Identify three things you love about nature.	Send a note of appreciation to your local park staff, garbage collector, or recycling crew.	Spend one minute in sunlight.	Learn what happens when food scraps turn back into soil—and try composting!
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
Gift a reusable bag, bottle, or mug and inspire someone to do the same.	Plant bee and butterfly-friendly flowers. They’ll repay you in beauty.	Take five slow breaths outside—let the air remind you to slow down.	Create art inspired by the outdoors—then gift or display it to spread appreciation.	Donate clothes, books, or toys instead of tossing them out.	Skip the car for one trip today—move your body, lighten your footprint.	Tell someone their green habit (like using a bike or bottle) inspires you.
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
Take a shorter shower or turn off the tap while brushing—every drop counts.	Give a plant, seed packet, or herb cutting labeled “Grow Kindness.”	Watch the sunset or stars—no phones, just wonder.	Leave water for birds, sugar water for bees, or build a bug hotel.	Replace one disposable thing (napkins, wipes, straws) with a reusable version.	Make or find a playlist of nature sounds—rain, waves, birdsong—and share it.	With friends or family, each share one thing you love about the planet.

Pack or prepare a meal that leaves no trash behind.	Offer to help a neighbor, elder, or school garden grow.	Snap a photo in nature and share one Earth Kindness you practiced.	Join a local cleanup, plant a tree, or host a mini Earth Kindness challenge.	Step outside before bed, look up, and thank the Earth for another day.

					Today, when someone talks, try not to interrupt until they're done.	When a friend or teacher is speaking, look up and show you're really listening.
3 After someone tells you something, repeat a few words to show you heard them.	4 Share a story about a teacher who changed your world and invite others to share theirs.	5 Show teachers and staff some kindness with small tokens of appreciation such as flowers, chocolates, or breakfast treats.	6 Think of a nurse or teacher who helped you when things were tough and send them a thank-you note so they know you still remember.	7 Write hopeful messages and leave them on sticky notes near bulletin boards, break areas or other places that nurses or teachers will see them.	8 Organize a "chalk the walk" event at a local school or hospital. (make sure to get permission beforehand)	9 Deliver care packages to nursing stations, include items like hand lotion, lip balm, small snacks, and maybe even a coffee shop gift card.
10 Hold the door, offer a warm smile, give up a seat, or share a calming quote with a healthcare worker you see.	11 Arrange to have a meal delivered to a nursing station. Don't forget to include school nurses!	12 Use community boards, social media, or local newspapers to highlight stories of exceptional nursing care.	13 Send a short voice message to say, "I'm thinking of you."	14 Try to learn one new thing about someone just by listening carefully.	15 When someone talks, listen for the feeling behind their words.	16 Say, "What's something you wish more people knew about you?"
17 Sit outside for five minutes and just listen—to wind, birds, or rain.	18 When someone shares, say, "Tell me more about that."	19 Watch a short video or read a story from someone whose life is different from yours.	20 Ask a grandparent, teacher, or neighbor about something they remember from childhood.	21 When someone helps you at a store, smile, make eye contact, and say thank you.	22 Ask a friend, "How can I be a better friend to you?"	23 Read or watch something that teaches you about a new idea.
24 Ask someone in your neighborhood what they love most about where you live.	25 If you're upset, take a deep breath.	26 Sit quietly with your pet—listen to their breathing or purring.	27 Tell someone you remember a kind thing they once said and let them know it still means a lot to you.	28 Write a note or draw a picture for someone who always listens to you.	29 At lunch, ask a friend a question and let them do most of the talking.	30 Read a story someone else loves and talk about what it means to them.

SCIENCE SPARK: PUBLIC RECOGNITION OF KINDNESS SPARKS A “HELPER’S HIGH” FOR THE GIVER, RECEIVER, AND ANYONE WITNESSING IT—THANKS TO MIRROR NEURONS IN THE BRAIN.

	On your next walk smile as you pass others.	Chalk kind messages or drawings where others stroll or bike.	Each day, text or tag someone who brightened your world.	The next time you're with friends, family, or coworkers, take ten seconds to say one kind thing about someone in the group.	Tape up a poster in a shared space for people to share gratitude notes about others.	Leave cold drinks or thank-you cards for lifeguards, camp counselors, or park workers.
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
Share lunch with someone who's been helpful this year.	Create a shared "Shine Together" playlist with songs that remind you of kind people.	After cleaning up a park or beach, invite others (online or in person) to do their own ripple act and share it forward.	Nominate a community helper (coach, nurse, bus driver) on social media.	Take a cheerful photo with someone who made you smile and share it with a thank-you caption.	When you're spending time with someone in your life, pause to tell them what you appreciate about them. A simple sentence can brighten the whole day.	Next time you're with friends, go around naming one kind thing about each person.
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
On your next walk or drive, make it a point to wave or smile at the people you pass.	Set up a simple lemonade stand (or pitcher on the porch) and give a free cup with a handwritten kindness note attached.	Leave uplifting notes on benches or picnic tables for strangers to find.	Trade favorite summer books or recipes, each tagged with a kind note.	Create a list (smile at a stranger, pick up litter, compliment a cashier) and do it.	On walks or drives, wave to everyone you pass. It's contagious joy in motion.	Drop off popsicles or iced coffees to construction crews.
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
Keep track of kind acts you see while traveling, then share your top three at month's end.	Host a backyard gathering where everyone shares a kindness story under string lights.	Watch the sunset with friends and each name one person you're thankful for.	Write names of people who've helped you shine this year; pick one daily and send them a thank-you.	On your town's Facebook page or neighborhood app, highlight someone doing good.	Leave positive reviews for local businesses or workers who went the extra mile.	At home, post kind things family members do so everyone can see the glow grow.

Compliment swimmers, lifeguards, or parents helping kids learn.	When someone compliments you, "pass the praise" by recognizing another person right after.	End June with a gathering, picnic, or bonfire to celebrate everyone's bright acts.

RANDOM ACTS OF KINDNESS FOUNDATION

SCIENCE SPARK: ACTS OF GENEROSITY LIGHT UP THE BRAIN'S REWARD PATHWAYS, GIVING THE GIVER THE SAME JOY RESPONSE AS RECEIVING A GIFT.

SUN	MON	TUE	WED	THU	FRI	SAT
30	31	1	2	3	4	5
		Leave a small note or treat for your mail carrier, delivery driver, or garbage collector.	Bake and share something sweet and deliver it to a neighbor, teacher, or friend.	Start Socktober early by collecting new socks throughout September to donate next month—your preparation today warms toes (and hearts) tomorrow.	Donate gently-loved treasures like books or toys so someone else can enjoy them.	Hand out compliment cards that tell people what makes them special.
6	7	8	9	10	11	12
Spread back-to-school cheer with sticky notes of encouragement hidden in lockers, desks, or library books.	Thank a teacher or mentor with a heartfelt note describing how they've inspired you.	Plant positivity by painting kindness rocks and scattering them around parks or trails.	Do a chore for someone else without being asked.	Start a generosity jar and add a coin or note each time someone does something kind, then donate what you've collected together at month's end.	Send a smile across miles by mailing a postcard or drawing to a faraway friend or relative.	Give the gift of time by helping with errands, homework, or yard work.
13	14	15	16	17	18	19
Hold the door (and a smile) for others.	Share your skills by teaching someone how to bake, draw, or play a song.	Grow a kindness tree in your classroom or office—add a paper leaf for each kind act witnessed until your branches bloom with good deeds.	Leave a generous tip or a note of appreciation for a café or restaurant worker.	Create a kindness coupon book filled with favors like "help with dishes," "one free hug," or "movie night of your choice".	Pick up litter while you walk and watch your generosity ripple through the environment as beauty replaces clutter.	Donate blood or encourage others to.
20	21	22	23	24	25	26
Surprise a stranger by paying for their coffee, bus fare, or parking.	Pass along a favorite book with a note about why it moved you.	Volunteer together as a family, class, or team.	Host a "swap day" where friends trade clothes, toys, or tools.	Create a ripple map—draw a big circle with your name in the middle, then add circles for every person your kindness reaches.	Pack an extra snack for school or work and share it with someone who forgot theirs.	Support local artists or shops by leaving a kind review, sharing their work online, or writing a thank-you note.

Give the gift of listening by setting down your phone and being fully present.	Make kindness bookmarks with inspiring quotes and slip them into library books so future readers discover unexpected encouragement.	Adopt a spot in your neighborhood—refill a Little Free Pantry, water community plants, or tidy a park corner.	Celebrate kindness stories by sharing moments of generosity from the month with your family or class—telling these stories keeps those joy pathways glowing bright.
